Grand Jury Returns Bill Against J. T. Hinton for Receiving Corrupting Funds.

ALLEGED DEAL WITH BANK

First National Said to Have Furnished Money to Control City Election.

money unlawfully for the purpose of influencing an election the Bourbon County Grand Jury sitting at the March term of the Bourbon Circuit Court returned an indictment against Mayor John T. Hinton, of this city, but by order of the court the indict-ment was withheld from the public until late last week and after bench warrants had been issued and served. The indictment against Mayor Binton was the result of the investigation which was in progress at the early session of the grand jury and the probe was made into the alleged election frauds at the instance of Judge Robert L. Stout, who instructed the body to conduct an investigation along these lines with a view of uncerthing an alleged scandal referred to in the speech of Hon, J. Campbell Cantrill in his speech here several weeks ago in the interest of his candidacy for Con-indictment of Mayor Hinton grew out of alleged frauds which were said to have been perpetrated in the Third Ward in this city during the election last November when, it is said, Mayor Hinton received from the First National Bank of Paris, the sum of $700 to be used to influence the voters of this ward and bring about the election of Harry Baldwir, a Democrat, over J. W. Larkin, a Re-

By the terms of the alleged dea entered into by James McClure, cashier of the First National Bank and others and Mayor Hinten, the latter it is claimed agreed to vote his stock in the Agricultural Bank of Paris on the question of merging the two institutions, and consolidate under the First National. According to the rumor which was circulated Mayor Hinton failed to comply with his part of the argeement. When the Grand Jury met three weeks ago the investigation of the alleged frauds referred to Stout were overlooked and the matter of probing into the Third Ward election was assumed. James McClure cashier of the Frst National, M. R. Jacoby, Roy Clendenin, Thos. H. Clay, Jr., Stamps Moore, C. C. Clarke and others were summoned before the body it is said and testified in the case before that body, as being witnesses to the deal made with Mayor Hinton, and upon this evidence the indictment STATE OF THE PARTY OF was returned.

The evidence given before the grand ury, it is claimed, was sufficient to indict all parties to the alleged transaction, but from the fact that only one indictment was returned the matter reflects upon the integrity of the grand jury and from an unabised point of view shows clearly upon the face of the situation that Mayor Hinton was the victim of a conspiracy.

According to the statement of May or Hinton made yesterday the only agreement made with the officials the First National Bank was that he would favor a merger of his stock in the Argicultural Bank provided the men from the First National could show him as they claimed they could that the Agricultural stock would be worth more under such merger than at present, but up to this time this has never been shown nor any attempt made to do so, and that he did not receive the campaign contribution of seven hundred dollars as

Before any wages were increased, the woolen trust magnates, who have been making profits of from 6 to 75 per cent on their investment, decided to advance the cost of clothing. And as a matter of fact the consumers began to actually pay increased prices for woolens and cottons in anticipation of the increased wages to be paid by the woolen trust, before the announcement of the increased wages was

> The girls basket ball team of the Paris High School has just closed the season of 1912. The two games which were to have been played with the Mason county High School have been > canceled. Those who availed themselves of the opportunity of witnessing the team play throughout the season as they wrested victory after victory from their less fortunate opponents feel that time can never erase from memory the recollection of how valiantly they fought.

Those who must rely solely upon this review of the season will get but a faint and inadequate idea of what this phenomenal team did or was capable of doing. Full justice and credit would not be rendered the young ladies that make up the team, if the whole account was to be written in capitals. Reduced fares to Cincinnati and return account World in Cincinnati," a with every adjective in the superlative to 0. This furnished but a slight intimation of what was to follow. The majority of the games could hardly be considered anything more than practic games. Of the list of victories won there are two that deserve special prominence. With reluctance the State University girls agreed to play the Paris High School and then only on condition that the game be played on their own floor. Suffice to say the game was played according to their terms and much to the chagrin of the proud wearers of the blue and white, resulted in a victory for Paris by the score of 14 to 10.

It would not be presumptive for the team to claim not only the championship of Kentucky but also of the South. According to the available "dope" the championship of the south ay between State University and Transylvania. No game was played between these two teams to decide the hampionship but Paris defeated State University, who defeated Louisville who in turn defeated Transylvania. As a fitting climax to the season the Paris team defeated the aggregation from the Lexington High School.

It would indeed be an injustice to attempt to pick from this galaxy of undefeated stars the brightest. The best and fairest way to comment on the team is to consider them as they 8th Street, always played; not individually, but as a whole. The Paris girls know the game from start to finish and generally employed their knowledge to the best advantage. They are all hard, consistent players, the whole team long since learned the diffcult and all important ert of connecting with the baskets. Their goal shooting was only excelled by their floor work which everyone that ever saw them play will admit wast ruly remarkable.

Elsa Heller, captain, and Ruth Chambers, the two guards, are largely responsible for their opponents csores being as small as they were. The goals thrown over them were all deserved. In passing it might be said that none of these girls were born basket ball players. To Prof. Johnson too much credit can not be ascribed. His ability as a coach can best be judged by the record his team has made. The young ladies who enjoy the proud distinction of composing the 1912 team are as follows:

Elsa Heller, captain, and Ruth Chambers, guards; Mary Hayden, center; Olive Taul and Nellie Rummans, forwards; Gertrude Slicer and Jerome Chapman, substitutes. The games played this season are as fol-

HOW BLOOD IS MADE.

The liquids and the digested foods in the alimentary canal pass through the wall of the canal into the blood. This process is called absorption and takes place chiefly from the small intestine. After absorption the blood carries the food through the body, and each cell takes from the blood the food it needs. A pure through the body, and each cell takes from the blood the food it needs. A pure glyceric extract made from bloodroot, mandrake, stone, queen's root and golden seal and sold by druggists for the past forty years under the name of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, gives uniformly excellent results as a tonic to help in the assimilation of the food and in the absorption by the blood of the food it requires. Eradicate the poisons from the blood with this alterative extract which does not shrink the white blood corpuscles, because containing no alcohol or other injurious ingredients. Thus the body can be built up—strong to resist disease. This is a onic taken from Nature's garden that builds up those weakened by disease. Dr. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, N.Y., has received many letters similar to the following:

Ms. Fred R. Munro, of Paradise, N. S., writes: "I take great pleasure in writing you as regards my case and its cure. In September I was taken with Typhoid Fever, which put me in a dreadful condition. I was weak, run down, nervous and was reduced to a mere skeleton. I had tried most everything I could get but nothing did me any good until, at last, I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and 'Pleasant Pellets,' which I did. Before I had used one bottle I saw a great improvement and when I had used this treatment two months, using only a few vials of 'Pleasant Pellets,' I returned to perfect health. I cannot find words to express my thankfulness for this wonderful medicine. I advise all sufferers to write to Dr. R. V-Pierce, as he cures when others fail."

Finds a $5 Bill, Then Two Tens, but the Next Find Is Something Else.

George Gamble struck a streak of luck the other day. Mr. Gamble, incidentally, is manager of the Pere Marquette fast freight line. He walked into a hotel in Kansas, and there, upon the lobby floor, he saw a smail green wad. "A $5 bill," marveled Mr. Gamble when he unrolled it.

A week or so later he ambled into the lobby of another hotel in another state. The first thing his eyes lit upon was a pellet of green near the clerk's desk. Business of making a hurried dive for it and then discovering two $10 bills, packed together. Mr. Gamble observed that he was action upon the organs with which sure enough in the middle of the lucky curve. He wondered what he would curve. He wondered what he would find next.

He came to town, walked into the Cadillac, and there, in the middle of the lobby floor, appeared that familiar little emerald bulb. Mr. Gamble sidled toward it, trying to look as if he was looking another way. Just at that moment a small dog butted in. He seized the little green wad and frolicked toward the street. Mr. Gamble abandoned his pretense at indifference and dived for the mutt. "Grab um," begged Mr. Gamble; "catch um."

A gentleman standing by the door obliged. He took the little bundle out of the dog's mouth; then he looked up at Mr. Gamble. "This yours?" he asked.

Mr. Gamble thought he would take a chance. "Yep," he said; "it's mine.

The gentleman handed over the bundle with an odd look at Mr. Gamble, and went away hastily. Mr. Gamble examined it. The wrapper was of soft green paper. It had broken in several places from the dog's teeth. Inside was a pair of lady's garters.-

To Our Patrons

We respectfully direct your attention to the extensive and choice stocks of Spring merchandise now assembled in our store, They comprise the very largest and most select gathering of new merchandise that has ever been collected under our roof at the opening of a season.

Every section of the store offers most complete selection. Our assortments mirror every authoritive new fashion, every new style-thought for Spring. Everything is fresh and brand new, as all goods in the store when our reorganization took place have been entirely disposed of.

Our buyers spent many weeks in the Eastern markets engaged in selecting from the products of the foremost manufacturers and importers the various lines of foods we now have the pleasure of offering you. They have exercised the most scrupulous discrimination in their selection, being ever on guard against the admission to our stocks of unauthentic styles or unreliable qualities.

Being constantly in touch with market conditions they were in a position to buy under the most favorable circumstances, which permits us to offer very attractive values. From every point of view we are in a position to serve you better than at any time in our history.

Our Dress-making Departments are taking orders now for before Easter delivery, Miss Brennan and Miss Brown having returned from the East with all the latest style

IS ALWAYS SOME CELEBRITY

Nobody Ever Recalls That in Previous Incarnation He Was a Humble Person.

Dr. Julia Sears, head of the "New Thought School," says: "There are enough people on the planet today who remember one or more of their incarnations to make it a certainty that reincarnation is a positive fact."

All right, doctor; we'll add this to our list of positive facts, which is already become somewhat unwieldly. Still, there is a question which has been puzzling us a good wnile, and we now make bold to ask: Why is it that, among all those people who remember one or more of their incarnations, not one can remember being an hod carrier, an undertaker's assistant, or an office boy in a soap factory? There is a strong tendency to run toward royal families, court musicians, and philosophers. Two or three persons can distinctly remember having been Joan of Arc, and the number of reincarnated Napoleons and Louis Fourteenths is growing all the time. But the man we are anxious to meet is the chap who can remember with pleasure his incarnation as the brawny "white wings" who pushed th scoop around the arena of the Roman Coliseum after the show was over and the animals retired, or the employe of the Imperial Health Department whose duty it was to descend into the Cloaca Maxima when it got clogged.

Another New Thought which comes at this moment is in connection with the statement of Dr. Sears that she was the Italian singer Marsina 400 years ago, was bitterly discontented, and now she longs to sing and cannot. There's matter for rumination in this. We shall hurry away now to tell the young woman in the apartment adjoining ours that the reason she longs to sing, or thinks she can sing, and cannot, is because she had a sweet pipe several hundred years ago and didn't make the most of it.-Puck.

SHE PICKED THE WRONG MAN

Woman With Prominent Jaw Did Not Get the Seat She So Evidently Desired.

She had a jaw that somehow reminded one of the cowcatcher on a locomotive-perhaps because it was always somewhat in advance of her countenance. Also there was a look of determination in her eyes, and it was evident, from the manner in which she elbowed other passengers aside, that she had no desire to be regarded as a shrinking violet. Yet she was rather good looking, and she was Paris - Lexington - Frankfort dressed in such a manner as to indicate that she was free from the necessity of practicing economy. After she had fought her way into the car she looked at the men who were occupying seats and then stationed herself in front of a smallish, gray-haired gentleman whose expression was kind and even lamblike.

The woman engaged his attention by kicking his toes. He curled his feet back under the seat and continued to read his paper. Then she "hemmed' loudly and bumped against his knees. He looked up at her, indulged in a sigh of weariness and tried to make room for her by crowding closely to the woman who sat at the left of him. She declined to budge, however, and the old gentleman again turned his attention to his paper.

Exasperated by such ungallant behavior on his part, the woman with the decisive jaw said in tones that in no wise suggested the haunting melody of a tinkling brook:

"I suppose I'll have to stand all the way home. I've heard of men who had the decency to get up when the cars were crowded, but I guess they're all dead."

"Madam," the little old gentleman mildly remarked, "I would give you my seat, but I'm saving it for a lady." -Chicago Record-Herald.

Centenary of Moscow Campaign.

One hundred years ago Napoleon set out on his campaign to Moscow, and it is perhaps only natural that Moscow and Russia generally should be eager to celebrate the centenary of a campaign which was so disastrous to the invaders. Already preparations are being made in Moscow to open the 1812 museum, and an immense number of objects relating to the campaign have been collected. The centenary has already been celebrated by a concert, which revived the marches and military airs of both armies, and some of these, according to the Debats, are most interesting and curious. More interesting still, as likely to recall the events of that year, will be the visits that are to be paid to the battlefields and the ceremonies that are to take

And here's one of Rosie Mutzenstein who has six thousand dolhas a gold watch all paid for, three thousand dollars in the bank and I think I can fix it so you can live with her folks and it won't cost you anything for board."

"Oh, that's nothing for me. I want girl with some real money." "Oh, at least $12,000 to $15,000."

"I got one for you. Sarah Weisenstein has got $12,000." "That sounds good. Let's see her

"Cardui Cured Me"

For nearly ten years, at different times, Mrs. Mary Jinks of Treadway, Tenn., suffered with womanly troubles. She says: "At last, I took down and thought I would die. I could not sleep. I couldn't eat. I had pains all over. The doctors gave me up. I read that Cardui had helped so many, and I began to take it, and it cured me. Cardui saved my life! Now, I can do anything."

If you are weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, dragging-down feelings, pains in arm, side, hip or limbs, and other symptoms of womanly trouble, you should try Cardui, the woman's tonic. Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is the best remedy for you to use, as it can do you nothing but good. It contains no dangerous drugs. It has no bad after-effects. Ask your druggist. He sells and recommends Cardui.

-Lambs should be] weaned when about four months old. "The time of weaning, however, idepends largely upon when the lambs were dropped. Very late lambs should be weaned at a as those weaned earlier, nor does it give a chance for their dams to recuperate for the breeding season in the fall. As soon as the lambs are weaned they should be placed in a pasture as far away from their dams as possible. Rape or a mixture of oats, peas and vetches are excellent crops to supplement the ordinary pastures during the summer. Great care must be taken however not to turn the sheep in upon the rape when hungry for the rape is very damp and these condition are prone to cause bloating and scouring.

Dopers Active in Washington.

Drug makers and druggists' agents appeared before the pure focd board in Washington and asked for permission in certain cases to take the kull and cross bones sign off of bottles containing poisonous preparations. #### Farm Train Visits Paris.

Although a slow drizzling rain was falling when the agricultural train reached Paris Friday morning a crowd estimated at five hundred was on hand to meet it. The train arrived at 9 o'clock after a night spent in Cynthiana and immediately upon its arrival President H. S. Barker, of Kentucky State University mounted a baggage Mesdames J. M. Mason and T. T. truck and welcomed the crowd on board

Miss Kizzie May McDaniel was the guest of Miss Martin, at Cynthiana, from Friday until Monday.

Prof. Geo. W. Chapman, of the Paris City School, Prof. W. L. Yerkes and Prof. E. M. Costello, the two latter being at the head of private schools, dismissed their schools for the purpose of allowing the pupils to witness the exhibits and hear the lectures. A noticeable feature was that every pupil of the pupil school took notes on the subject that was of the most interest to them and upon which they will be required to write an essay. The lecture of Miss Nell Knowles on Home Economics, was one of great interest. Prof. James E. Wing lectured to about fifty boys on the culture of alfalfa and soil fertility. Miss Anby Chian lectured on domestic science. Profs. Hooper, Smith and Reed also spoke during the sojourn of the farm special here. M. A. Scovill, head of the Agricutural Department of State University, joined the special in this city and will be on board for the ie-

Poor Horse Show.

The annual horse show which has always characterized April court, was this year one of the poorest in point of the number of stallions on exhibition. For the past two or three years the exhibit has been held at the Bourben Fair Grounds, but yesterday the small number of stallions were exhibited on the public square. The stallions on exhibition were as fellows:
